Ronald Reagan Legacy Project Supports Reagan's Picture on the $50 Bill

Congressman McHenry (NC-10) introduces bill to honor 40th president by preserving his memory on our money

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Since 1913, Americans have seen the image of President Ulysses S. Grant on their $50 bills, but after 97 years the $50 bill may get a facelift. A recently introduced bill by Congressman Patrick McHenry of North Carolina seeks to replace Grant's image with that of Ronald Reagan to celebrate the remarkable achievements of America's 40th president (H.R. 4705).

The Ronald Reagan Legacy Project's mission is to honor and memorialize the historic achievements of President Ronald Reagan and commends Rep. McHenry for introducing this legislation. According to McHenry "Every generation needs a hero."

"Having President Reagan's image on the $50 bill will keep Ronald Reagan's memory and achievements fresh for generations to come," said Grover Norquist, Chairman of the Ronald Reagan Legacy Project. "This is small but lasting way that Americans can show their appreciation for one of their greatest presidents."

The RRLP is committed to preserving the legacy of one of America's greatest presidents throughout the nation and abroad. Grover Norquist, chairman of the RLLP, is available for interviews regarding Ronald Reagan's legacy and the group's projects. Please contact John Kartch at (202)-785-0266 or jkartch@atr.org.
